RE: RENEWAL OF THE EXISTING DENALI BOROUGH SOLID WASTE PERMIT
023 1 BA005, DENALI BOROUGH LANDFILL, ANDERSON, ALASKA

Ken:

The Denali Borough (Borough) wishes to renew its current solid waste permit to be effective August 15, 2007 through August 14, 2012. The Borough has operated a Class II Landfill for the last nine years and has experienced no major problems or concerns.

The Borough landfill lies in an area of deciduous and black spruce taiga terrain on what is apparently well-drained upland soil in a relatively flat region. The site is located on a broad series of alluvial fans and glacial outwash plains on the north slope of the Alaskan Range. Based on the history of the area it is reasonable to assume the site is located clear of the hundred year flood plain of the Nenana River.

Ground water under the site flows in a north by northwesterly direction at between 65 to 76 feet below the ground surface. Maximum temperatures in the area are historically between a winter low of minus 50 degrees F. and a summer high of 80 degrees F., on average.

The landfill site is owned by the Borough and the entire area is zoned industrial.

The area is located in the interior and not subject to the Alaskan Coastal Zone Management Program.

The Borough's management plan (Operations Plan) submitted with this cover letter is a modification of the plan approved by the Alaska Department of Environmental Conservation (ADEC) in August 2002 and currently in use.
